

YNSECT CERTIFIED ISO 9001

The company Ynsect is delighted to announce that it recently got the ISO 9001 certificate. This certification is the result of an excellent job completed and achieved by all the teams, particularly by Annaïg Terrien, Quality Manager, with the Biosupport Employers' Alliance and Laureen Razafimbola, Safety and Environment Manager.

In 2015, Ynsect management had decided to implement a strong quality management system within the company. For this to happen, they started the ISO certification process. The work that was done by the Biosupport team working with Ynsect employees was outstanding; the certificate was obtained in a short period of time and the staff have joined in on the process.

The company is aware that ISO 9001 conformance is an essential criterion for some clients. It gives more credibility to the company Ynsect and its projects towards clients, investors and suppliers. It is also proof of its engagement toward creating a new industry of high quality products and processes.

Finally, the results of the process of ISO certification are being felt internally; the established procedures allow all the workers of Ynsect to work efficiently due to all the aligned processes. This system allows us, as well, to apply legal and regulatory requirements.

Ynsect wants to congratulate its employees for this big achievement and thank Biosupport Employers' Alliance for its engagement with Ynsect, in this project of ISO certification and in others.
